Guided Character Growth In this game, you receive a kind of power from your character. In order to receive the best item, however, you need to strengthen your character properly. To strengthen your character, you need to win battles, thus obtaining quests. But if you do not win the battles, you cannot receive the best items. And you can also lose the item by not having enough items. The more experience points you gain, the higher your character gets, and the closer it is to the end. And as your character gets stronger, you can fight larger monsters and more powerful ones. Like all other RPGs, dungeons and towns are also shared between players. So the new RPG is a multiplayer RPG that lets you join a server hosted by other players. Crafting of Some Kind A new feature in the Elden Ring RPG is the crafting that lets you create powerful items. You can make armor and weapons that have high damage. You can also craft special items that deal damage to certain types of enemies. Items will increase your level as you create them, and you need to confirm the consistency of the item before selling it. Creating an item takes a long time, but you can make use of items in advance to obtain more experience points and power for your character.

Battle EXPLORATION Discover a New World (Recommended on Mobile) You can explore the world of the Elden Ring RPG, looking for rare items that are not normally obtained. You can conduct a dialogue with NPC characters and complete quests. PVP (Recommended on PC) In the online game, you can fight with other players. So, the best way to fight with others is to gather a group of guild mates and invade enemy territory. Then you can fight against that territory. If you successfully invade the territory, the opposing guild will receive damage. So the stronger a guild is, the stronger the damage it will receive from the other guild. Agility (Recommended on PC) As soon as your character enters a new area, it automatically searches for hidden items and monsters, and also searches for items that can help your character in battle. In the normal battle, if your character stops moving for a certain time period, your character will fall to the ground and experience a penalty. So your character can walk around freely to obtain items and monsters. If you make a mistake while walking, your character will
