What's new:

Tobruk Hello Folks, Kahrytan here again. This is my first attempt at a character for The Open Beta, and I chose to go with the Kawaki from Star Trek Into Darkness. I've always been intrigued by psionic powers, and the Kawaki have a really fun ability to slow down time with mental connections. Here is my basic character sheet: This is a multiclassed character that focuses on tribal marksmanship and psionic powers as his primary combat style. In addition to tribal marksmanship, he switches to psionics to focus on slowing the enemies down or disrupting their damage. This is only intended to be seen as a placeholder. I plan on getting a lot more artwork made up. Also, this will in no way replace the tutorials I have planned for this character. This Post will detail the choices I made in creating this character, and eventually a screenshot of my character sheet (further down). There are few characters in the Core Rules that are naturally psionic characters, and no multi-classes that focus on psionic powers. To that end, I created the Leadership Kindred, as this represents a more psionic personality, but does come with more mental training than a normal wizard. This character isn't meant to be a dedicated fighter, but rather a jack of all trades who can gather intel before hand and later toggle in some psionic power. Power toggles in this way to allow his comrades to pick up the mantle rather than him needing to spend more than one turn at a time "grabbing a free power" to use them. My character's goals are to avoid direct confrontation with the main enemy, at least for now. I'll see how things go, but I'd like to think he'll be back for a rematch soon. The Leadership Kindred is trained in Power/Will (10 points), Perception (11 points), and Movement (8 points). To start, I used the Tertiary Wings feat to gain an additional tier of feat slots. I've picked this feat because I

The Tertiary Wings feat mostly just provides another wound track for the Leadership Kindred to improve her powers and such. In Defending Tactics I, I pick up
