For PHP documentation purposes, is there any reason I shouldn't serve it up on its own as a static page? I'm specifically thinking about code readability. In other words, this page as a one-page website: I'm a bit of a noob, so I want to be sure. :) A: Its perfectly fine for personal use, but in the public or commercial sense, you need to contact the system owner and give permission to publish on your site. With that said, if you think your use-case requires that all your users have access to all your vCard.php files, you may want to look into a more stable or scaled framework like Zend Framework. , the other top 15 as well, was in attendance. However, I attended the #15 conference, which featured Dr. Jack Linch. Dr. Linch was in attendance, but unfortunately did not sign autographs. I have sent him a recent photo of me and he was happy to see a photo of him taken in February this year. His presentation was excellent and I will be able to bring back some details to share.

February 7, 2006. I attended the #10 conference on the Big Island at the Keaau Convention Center, with Dr. Gary Smith and Dr. Jonny Adams
